A SUMMER OF SONGS

It is so wonderful to be back at Infant Jesus following a very eventful school year in the seminary. I humbly reiterate my heartfelt gratitude to you all (priests, deacons and people of this great parish), especially, for your continued prayers and warm welcome. Special thanks to Fr. Patrick for making the necessary adjustments for me to be back here, despite the changes in my assignment back home. Since my work as rector of the seminary puts me and those who collaborate with me at the heart of priestly formation for the church, I continue to be in need of your support and encouragement, especially your prayers, so that we may be blessed with the grace, wisdom, knowledge and exemplary humility to form future priests after the mind of Christ, for service to God and to the People of God.

This summer, we are studying the book of Psalms and I hope that you can be part of our evening classes, even if extenuating circumstances make it impossible for you to attend all the classes. Come and join us so we can make it a Summer of Songs to the Lord, using the ancient prayerful hymns that have become part of Church life and worship, as well as individual prayer since the beginnings of Christianity. They make up an important heritage from the Hebrew background of our faith as Christians.

The Book of Psalms: An Introduction.
The Book of Psalms has casually been referred to as the Christian card shop, since in it is found prayers that meet human needs in all ramifications, albeit, sometimes with little adaptation. The psalms express the full range of our human emotions before God. Engaging the Book of Psalms is like going into a card shop to look for greeting cards for particular occasions. The Psalms offer an array of prayers that mirror a wonderful variety of human sentiments and feelings, thus meeting our needs to express ourselves to God, just like a well-stocked card shop. Quite often, the psalms give us the words needed to express those sentiments, feelings and needs before God. We all know that finding a good card for the occasion often involves our knowledge of the genre or classification for arranging the cards on the shelves. The better knowledge we have of the shelving, the easier it is to locate the cards we need. Our study of the Psalms this year is meant to familiarize ourselves with the shelving process, so that we may more easily find the prayerful poems that best suit our spiritual, moral, emotional and social needs.

Therefore, the classification of the psalms, the literary forms found in the book of psalms, the function of the psalms, and the explanation of some psalms will be part of that process of getting us to understand the shelving mechanism in the Book of Psalms, so that it is easy for us to engage the entire collection.

The Psalms and Community Worship
The Psalms are among the most commonly used biblical texts amongst Jews and Christians alike. Sometimes, you may even find them being expressed on the lips of unbelievers. In both Jewish and Christian worship, the psalms are used frequently. There is, for example, no Catholic liturgical encounter that is without a psalm. We have them at every mass after the first reading, either recited or sung, even though liturgists will tell you that the psalms are meant to be sung. That is obvious from the structure and content of many of them. They were written, not just as poems, but also as songs of worship. Our Sunday practice of singing the psalms at mass is more like it. In many monasteries, convents, seminaries, religious houses, and retreat houses worldwide, the psalms are sung daily during the praying of the Breviary, at different hours of the day. They make up the bulk of the official prayers of the Church, prayed daily by clergy and religious, as well as many lay faithful. They are so central to the prayer life and worship of the church that they are surely deserving of our attention, both communally and individually.

The Psalms as Family and Personal Prayer Book
So in addition to praying the psalms together in church, I encourage you to get into the habit of using the psalms for your personal and family prayer and meditation at home, and you will be reaping great fruits of joy as your heart finds the expressions of its inner yearnings in these ancient hymns. They truly speak for us and with us when encountered in prayer and meditation.

Now that we know that the Psalms are prayers, and we already use them prayerfully in Church, how do we appropriate them for effective individual use, since they ought to be companion texts on our way through life. Permit me to recommend a good starting point for personal adaptation. Take your bible and read through the Book of Psalms this week. As you read, pencil what you think are the main themes of each Psalm by the side of the Psalm. When you are done, itemize the different themes you have and list the different Psalms that fall within identified categories under each theme. That is our starting point. We shall have a word or two on what to do with them next week.

Mass Intentions

For the 2019 year, there are still over 100 weekday Mass Intentions available. Please consider visiting or calling the Rectory to reserve a Mass for your special intention!

The 2019 Mass Book

will open on

Thursday, July 25th

Mass Intentions, sometimes inexactily referenced to as “Mass Cards”, refers to when a priest celebrating the Mass offers the celebration of the Eucharist for a particular person, or intention. By doing so he applies special graces from God upon that person or intention. Mass Intentions are reserved and recorded in the Mass Book. Mass Cards are often used to convey to the family and friends of a departed loved one, the time and date of the intended Mass.

What was happening in 1919? Thomas Woodrow Wilson was President. The Black Sox Scandal occurred. The American Legion was founded, including local Wilson Ritch Post 43A. Al Smith was sold from the Boston Red Sox to the NY Yankees.

On July 20, 1919, the charter for the Joan of Ace Council 1992 was signed by James A. Flaherty. There are forty-five names on the original charter. The first five Grand Knights were John R. Melvin (1919-1923), Thaddeus Ottenger (1923-1925), Dapha Andrews (1925-1926, 1936-1937), William C. Purick (1926-1933), and Charles Dahl (1928-1933, 1936-1937). In our 100 year history, the longest serving Grand Knight is Robert J. Treubert. There have been 52 Grand Knights during our 100 years of service. August 21st is the Feast Day of Our Lady of Knock

Have you ever seen any statue of the Blessed Virgin Mary quite like this one? Our Lady of Knock, as she is known from this unusual apparition depicted above, was seen by residents of Knock, a small town beset by poverty in County Mayo, Ireland on August 21, 1879, outside of the Church of St. John the Baptist. (www.knockshrine.ie).

To commemorate the Feast of Our Lady of Knock, a Prayer Service will be held at St. James RC Church in Setauket at 7:30 PM, on Wednesday, August 21, 2019. Please join us for this special prayer opportunity!

To prepare for the Feast of Our Lady of Knock, please offer the Our Lady of Knock Novena prayers from Tuesday, August 13 through Tuesday, August 20.

More information about Our Lady of Knock and the Novena Prayers are available on-line at www.knockshrine.ie/novenaprayer www.StJamesSetauket.org
